PART I: SCOPE OF WORK

The Export-Import Bank of India [Bank], on behalf of the Government of India has extended a Line of Credit to the Government of the Republic of Niger for Municipal Solid Waste Treatment cum Landfill Project at Niamey, in the Republic of Niger, for which the Bank now seeks applications for pre-qualification from eligible entities. Refer Part II ITA 4 for eligibility provisions.

A] Background and operational plan of the Project

Like in many African cities, the management of solid waste in Niamey is a major concern. Everyday products and their quantities are increasing on day to day basis, given the exponential growth of the population. The growing populations constitute waste, beyond the physical, visual and factory pollution, which is a major public health problem. Indeed, the proliferation of uncontrolled dumps contributes to the proliferation of certain epidemiological diseases and contamination of the water table.

Niamey city, the capital of the Republic of Niger, has recorded a significant population growth over the years. This demographic and economic growth, resulted in proportional increase in the production of waste. In 1998, decentralization made waste management a communal responsibility. This responsibility has not been accompanied by substantial financial resources. Thus the municipal authorities, in order to meet the imperatives of keeping the city clean, have tolerated the commitment of private and Municipality initiatives to complete the removal of door to door solid waste at the household level.

This situation did not remain without consequences of the degradation of the environmental and living conditions of the population. The proliferation of wild dumps and significant presence of plastic bags throughout the city are visual indicators, showing regression of the sanitation situation in the city. Municipal authorities and development partners were interested in this situation. From supporting Municipality initiatives to strengthening the capacity of intervention actions have been initiated at all communities, but the lack of an effective organization with a real coordination of actions creates problem.

The importance placed on the management of solid waste in the city of Niamey is an initiatives aimed at enhancing the cleanliness and safety of the city. Unfortunately, these initiatives have experienced gaps in the organizational and operational aspects and are therefore being corrected to ensure efficiency of the system of waste management currently prevalent in Niamey. In order to do so, the new system of waste management to be implemented has been developed considering successful experiences in the management of solid waste conducted by Oxfam-Quebec, and the choice of the segment with empowering at each level will ensure achieving cleanliness and health safety in Niamey. The municipal solid waste (MSW) cum Landfill project to be implemented in the city of Niamey covers the following aspects:

- Primary collection of waste
- Secondary Collection of waste
- Transportation and Disposal of waste to the designated landfill site
- Construction of landfill

- Information and Education Campaign.

However, to support this strategy concrete measure must be taken at each link in the chain to strengthen them so that the entire value chain of waste management system remains intact and effective. Synthesis of the current municipal solid waste management problems in the city of Niamey reveals difficulties at four major stages of the chain.

- At the pre- collection level
- At the collection and transportation of waste
- At discharge / disposal of waste
- At the municipal management level

The current project aims to address all the challenges faced at each of the above stages that undermine the management of solid waste in the city of Niamey by putting an effective strategy at each stage in a concerted manner.

B] Scope of Work:

The works include mobilization of men, waste collection vehicles, construction equipment, waste equipment, machineries, tools, mobile Stations, mobile transfer stations, landfill preparation. D] Some Facts about the City of Niamey

D.1 Niamey city

Niamey City is the Urban Community of Niamey and its decentralized municipalities. It is divided into five (5) municipalities: Niamey Municipality I, II, III, IV and V, grouped within the Urban Community. Elected mayors administer the municipalities. A council assists the mayor in its responsibilities, which is responsible for decision and validation activities of the municipality.

D.2 Project Area

The Project Area would be the capital city Niamey. All works related to collection of waste, transportation, civil construction for collection and transportation, transfer stations and for the Landfill area would fall under the geographical boundaries of the capital city.

D.3 Demographic data

Since its establishment in 1926, the population of the Niamey city continues to grow. According to Established studies, the urban growth is taking place exponentially. The growth of the urban population is mainly caused successive droughts in recent decades experienced by Niger and that promotes rural exodus. Thus, 57000 inhabitants in 1967, the population reached 242,973 people in the first population census of 1977 (Seybou, 1995). At the last General Census of Population and Housing (RGP / H) organized in 2001, the population reached the number of 707 951 inhabitants. The analysis of the census estimates the current rate of increase 4.54% per year.

D.4 Typology of the occupation of the city

Niamey city has developed so concentrically around the historic city center. Five (5) main radial roads connecting the agglomeration to secondary cities and neighboring countries structure it. The main urban functions are distributed separately within the agglomeration. Outside of residential areas, six (6) zones can be determined:

- i) The city center: situated in the south of the left bank of the Niger River, focuses the majority of administrative and commercial equipment.
- ii) The administrative area: is developed linearly along the river, in the shelf area;
- iii) The airport area: occupies a large area southeast of the city;
- iv) The industrial area: situated between the city center and the airport area, along the cornice Gamkalley, it includes some industries and remains poorly densified;
- v) Green Belt: extends north-east north-west is a physical limit to the urbanization of this part of the city; and
- vi) The university area: implanted in the right bank of the Niger River, the area includes several university faculties, schools and major research institutes.

D.5 Residential Distribution

- i) Residential: The residential neighborhoods extend over the area of the plateau and surrounding areas and are characterized by a high quality habitat and low densities;
- ii) Residential peripheral: The habitat is mostly hard and housing quality is much lower and within residential areas. Urban infrastructures do not respond to the request. The densities vary depending on the seniority of neighborhoods and their level of development;
- iii) Mixed: Mixed neighborhoods are neighborhoods where we find the much intertwined construction of high and low quality. These neighborhoods are often subdivisions that have caught the villages and were drowned;

- iv) Traditional: This zone corresponds to the historical centers, concentrated around the Grand Exchange. Despite having very dense road networks and taking advantage of the presence of major urban infrastructure, they remain precarious majority: adobe construction, income levels relatively low household;
- v) Urban villages: Historic villages were gradually integrated into the urban fabric. With very high densities, urban villages are marked with a low level of access to urban services. The habitat is mostly traditional type; and
- vi) Spontaneous neighborhoods: This type of neighborhood corresponds to neighborhoods that do not have a plan of subdivision in addition to possess a property irregularity status. The spontaneous neighborhoods were developed in peri-urban areas along major roads.

D.6. Sanitation Services

Department of Sanitation is responsible for construction and maintenance of equipment for processing household waste and used water. It follows up and collection of household garbage by municipalities. The activities of this service are often confused with those of the service road and it is not uncommon to see the same staff (technicians, temporary or permanent laborers, drivers, etc.).

E] Geology of the Area

Precambrian rocks underlie large parts of Niger, but are mostly concealed by extensive Cenozoic continental deposits and sand dunes. Paleoproterozoic rocks, dominantly gneisses and migmatites are exposed west of Niamey as a continuation of Birimian rocks from Burkina Faso, and ubiquitous granites, metamorphic and volcanic in the Air Massif in the north of the country. Neoproterozoic- Palaeozoic rocks crop out south of Niamey along the border with Benin and Burkina Faso in a continuation of the Volta Basin. Younger Palaeozoic marine sediments occupy parts of northeastern Niger and the Agadez basin west of the Air Massif and Cretaceous marine and epicontinental sediments of the Iullemeden Basin occur in central Niger. Volcanic activity evidenced by lavas, tuffs and ash deposition is recorded intermittently from the Devonian, and particularly well exposed in the Air Massif. Spectacular anorogenic ring- complexes of predominantly Palaeozoic age are also exposed in the Air Massif area of the Hoggar Mountains and include anorthosites.

F] Weather Condition of the area

Niger lies in one of the hottest regions of the world. Temperatures rise from February to May and drop during the “winter” rainy season. During May (the hottest month), afternoon temperatures are high, ranging from a low of about 108° F (42° C) at Nguigmi on Lake Chad to 113° F (45° C) at Bilma and Agadez, in the northern desert. In January, afternoon temperatures average more than 90° F (mid-30° C) but at night may drops occasionally to freezing level in the desert.

Rainfall varies according to location as well as season increasing from north to south. In the northern part from Tahoua to Gouré rainfall is upto 10 inches for and supports the growth of a sparse vegetation. In the extreme south the 30-inch isohyet marks the southern limit of this zone, after which the southern agricultural zone begins.

G] Accessibility to the Site of Landfill

The Landfill site would be on the outskirts of the Capital City Niamey, and would be easily accessible.

H] Contract execution Period

The contract period shall be 18 months

I] GOI Guidelines

As per the GOI guidelines, goods and services for minimum 75% value of the contracts covered under these Lines of Credit, must be sourced from India. Applicants are advised to refer to the GOI guidelines mentioned above for details available at <http://www.eximbankindia.in/assets/pdf/loc/GOI-Guidelines-on-LOC.pdf>
